

Acknowledgement of Loss

Cancer affects us all — nearly all of us will have someone in our family or someone we know who has been diagnosed with cancer.

Diagnosis and treatment put burdens on the family and community, and even when possible, recovery can take a long time.

Some were diagnosed late, and this has resulted in outcomes that could have been prevented.

QAIHC wants to acknowledge and leave space for feeling that loss. Loss of health, loss of vitality, and loss of life.

This report has an art piece that you can place in your clinic or in your rooms for everyone in community to write messages of acknowledgement and remembrance for family and friends.

We see you.
